

AGILOX opens new sales office in France

- Technology leader continues expansion course and opens site in Paris, France
- Important strategic milestone in AGILOX's growth strategy
- Lukas Göbel-Groß takes over local business development

(Neukirchen near Lambach, January 25, 2024): AGILOX Services GmbH, a leading technology company for Autonomous Mobile Robots (AMR), has successfully inaugurated a new location in Paris, France. The opening not only underlines AGILOX's continued growth, but also emphasizes the strategic relevance of the European region.

As one of the most important industrial nations in Europe, France represents a significant milestone in AGILOX's expansion strategy. Companies from France are among the global leaders in the aerospace sector as well as in the automotive, cosmetics and pharmaceutical industries.

"As one of the economically strongest countries in industrial production, France is a strategic core market for AGILOX. With the new location in Paris, we can be closer to our customers and thus optimize the efficiency of their intralogistics processes with our autonomous mobile robots," explains Jürgen Baumgartner, Chief Sales Officer at AGILOX.
